Part 1 Prompt Log

Water Bottle Version 1

Prompt

Write a product description for a water bottle.

Output

Stay refreshed wherever your day takes you. This reusable water bottle keeps water close at hand, whether you're at your desk, at the gym, or on the go. Refill it before you head out and make hydration part of your everyday routine.

Water Bottle Version 2

Prompt

You are a copywriter for an online store that sells practical everyday products.

Write a product description for a reusable water bottle with these features:

- 24-ounce capacity
- Stainless steel body
- Screw-top lid
- Built-in carrying loop

Audience: college students carrying water between classes.

Placement: the product page on our website.

Output

Keep water close from your first lecture to your last study session. This 24-ounce reusable water bottle has a stainless steel body and a screw-top lid. The built-in carrying loop gives you an easy way to grab it as you head to your next class. Fill up before you leave, refill between classes, and keep moving through your day.

Water Bottle Version 3

Prompt

You are a copywriter for an online store that sells practical everyday products.

Write a product description for a reusable water bottle with these features:

- 24-ounce capacity
- Stainless steel body

Screw-top lid

Built-in carrying loop

Audience: college students carrying water between classes.

Placement: the product page on our website.

Rules:

Write 40–60 words.

Use a friendly, practical tone and simple language.

Do not use exclamation points or the phrases "must-have" or "game-changer."

Include all four product features.

Only use the product facts provided. Do not invent claims about insulation, leak protection, price, or dishwasher safety.

Output

Keep water handy between classes with this 24-ounce reusable water bottle. Its stainless steel body and screw-top lid make it a simple choice for your daily campus routine. Use the built-in carrying loop to carry it to your next lecture, then refill before settling in for a study session.

Water Bottle Version 4

Prompt

You are a copywriter for an online store that sells practical everyday products.

Write a product description for a reusable water bottle with these features:

24-ounce capacity

Stainless steel body

Screw-top lid

Built-in carrying loop

Audience: college students carrying water between classes.

Placement: the product page on our website.

Rules:

Write 40–60 words total, including the headline and bullet points.

Use a friendly, practical tone and simple language.

Do not use exclamation points or the phrases "must-have" or "game-changer."

Include all four product features.

Only use the product facts provided. Do not invent claims about insulation, leak protection, price, or dishwasher safety.

Use these two examples as style and structure guides only. Do not copy their product features.

Example 1:

Ready for Your Next Class

Keep your notes together throughout your campus day.

100 lined pages for class notes

Spiral binding

- Do not invent a price, charging time, water-resistance rating, or sound-quality claims.
- Do not claim the headphones block all noise.
- Do not use exclamation points, "must-have," or "game-changer."

Output format:

One short headline

One introductory sentence

Exactly three bullet points

Return only the finished product description

Output

Music for Your Daily Commute

Bring your music along for bus rides and train trips with headphones that fold away when you reach your stop.

- Active noise cancellation helps reduce surrounding noise while you listen, and Bluetooth connectivity lets you connect wirelessly.
- Get up to 30 hours of battery life with noise cancellation turned off.
- A foldable design makes them easy to pack, with USB-C charging when you need to recharge.

Reusable Grocery Bag Version 1

Prompt

You are a copywriter for an online store that sells practical household products.

Write a product description for a reusable grocery bag with these features:

- Woven cotton material
- Two long carrying handles
- Folds flat for storage
- Holds up to 20 pounds

Audience: people walking to their neighborhood grocery store.

Placement: the product page on our website.

Rules:

- Write 60–80 words total, including the headline and bullets.
- Use simple language and a friendly, practical tone.
- Include all four features.
- Only use the product facts provided.
- Do not invent dimensions, a price, washing instructions, or environmental certifications.
- Do not use exclamation points, "must-have," or "game-changer."

Output format:

- One short headline
- One introductory sentence
- Exactly three bullet points
- Return only the finished product description

Output

Ready for Your Grocery Walk

Take this reusable grocery bag along when you walk to your neighborhood store, then fold it flat for storage when your shopping is done.

- Woven cotton material for a reusable bag you can bring on your grocery trips.
- Two long carrying handles give you a way to carry your purchases home.
- Holds up to 20 pounds, so you can plan what to carry on your walk.

Part 2 Analysis

I started with a basic water bottle prompt. The response was generic and assumed the bottle was reusable, even though I had not specified that.

In Version 2, I added a copywriter role, product features, and a college student audience. The response became more specific, mentioning lectures and study sessions.

In Version 3, I added rules for length, tone, and accuracy, including a rule against inventing details. The response became shorter while keeping all four features.

In Version 4, I added two style examples and requested a headline and three bullet points. This made the description easier to scan and gave the output a more consistent structure.

Next, I applied role, context, constraints, and formatting instructions to the headphones and grocery bag. Both responses followed the requested structure and included the supplied features. The headphones response also preserved the important condition that the battery lasts up to 30 hours with noise cancellation turned off.

Overall, context made the biggest difference. Clear product details and a specific audience made the descriptions more useful, while constraints and examples helped control accuracy, length, and presentation.
